

New Funding Opportunity The Colorado Trust

The Colorado Trust announces two statewide funding opportunities to support increased access to health coverage and care for Colorado children and youth. The goal of this three-year, $7.5 million commitment is to help reach out to and enroll uninsured, eligible children in Medicaid or Child Health Plan Plus, and to provide them with regular, reliable health care services.

Expanding Children's Access to Health Care

Colorado community health clinics and local public health agencies that provide preventive, developmental and diagnostic services for infants and children in medically underserved areas are invited to apply for the following three-year funding opportunity:

Approximately 18 grantees will be selected to receive funding to help expand and strengthen their ability to provide health services to a greater number of infants and children. Several of these grantees may also receive additional funding to reach out to and enroll eligible, but uninsured children and youth. Such outreach and enrollment strategies should be innovative, community-based, multi-ethnic and utilize a case management approach.

Expanding Outreach & Enrollment for Children and Youth

Established Colorado community-based organizations that serve children and youth (age 0-18), but do not currently focus on health coverage or care, are invited to apply for the following three-year funding opportunity:

Approximately 10 grantees will be selected to expand on the services they already provide to children and families - such as after-school and early childhood care and education - to help their clients apply for health insurance and utilize available health care services.

Completed proposals are due to The Colorado Trust by Thursday, July 31, 2008. Thank you for your commitment to advance access to health for Colorado children and youth!
